Metique skin care

“Metique Natural tea tree oil products, paraben, mineral oil and perfume free, formulated with natural vitamin E.”

I'd never heard of Metique before I went on to twitter, but I am definitely glad I have heard of them now! They produce Tea Tree Oil skin care, and the three products I have to review for you today are:

- Tea Tree Oil Hygienic Skin Wash
- Tea Tree Oil Hand and Body Antiseptic Lotion
- 10% Blended Tea Tree Oil.

Right before getting into this review, I will state that all of these products smell extremely strongly, so unless you can get past that you're not going to like them. I have no problem with how strong they smell because, evidently they work. They're hygienic, they have antiseptics in and they are sulphate free, they're the angels of skin care.

I tried out the skin wash, and I have to say that it definitely made my skin feel cleaner and smoother and I personally think I had noticeable results within 24 hours. I have had a few problems with blemishes on my forehead and around my eyebrows (what odd places to get them right?) And I used the skin wash, the lotion and the tea tree oil before I went to bed, I woke up and the blemishes weren't completely gone but they were much less visible and nowhere near as red. I don't believe there is a brand you can compare Metique to, because their products are so unique and have a lot different ingredients that most of your standard skin care items.

The antiseptic lotion is lovely! This doesn't smell as strongly as the other two, so if you want to ease yourself in to the scent, purchase this beautiful product first! It's really moisturizing, and it removes stubborn eye makeup and even hair dye. (TIP! If you've ran out of face wipes or facial cleanser but need to get your make up off of your face, pop a little bit of your moisturizer onto a cotton pad and gently rub it over your face.) I think that this product is a must have in a skin care routine, and I will be using this a lot from now on.

Tea tree oil, I'm not completely sure if there is something you're specifically supposed to use this for, but I decided I'd pop it over some of my red areas and where I had blemishes and it worked a treat! This smells the strongest, obviously because it is tea tree oil, but I think it may be what made my blemishes and redness go away.

Overall I'm impressed with Metique and would recommend them, I do think that their packaging is a little bit too medical, and could be made to look a little bit more enticing, but ignoring that the product inside is well worth every penny!

I hope you all enjoyed this review and you can go onto Metique's website to order or look at their available products, it's: www.teatreeoilproducts.co.uk or for more information on Metique's products
